Master's Programme in Agricultural, Food and Environmental Policy Analysis (AFEPA)

Programme Years 2025-2027

The Rheinische Friedrich-Wilhelms-Universität Bonn, represented by the Rector, in turn represented by the Provost established in Regina-Pacis-Weg 3, 53113 Bonn, Germany responsible School: Institute for Food and Resource Economics, coordinating institution of the Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Degree (EMJMD) Master's Programme in Agricultural, Food and Environmental Policy Analysis (AFEPA), represented by Professor Thomas Heckeley, AFEPA coordinator, of the one part,

Name:

First name:

Date of birth:

Place of birth:

Nationality:

Passport or identity card number:

the student, of the other part,

Each participating university of the AFEPA consortium shall also post the guidelines for the thesis examination before the beginning of each academic year. The Master's thesis is examined and evaluated according to the second-year university regulations on Master's theses including regulations on length, format, etc. Each participating university of the AFEPA consortium uses the grading scale of its own institution to assess the academic performance of the student.

7. The student agrees to allow his/her respective first- or second-year university to share a copy of the academic transcript as soon as possible after each exam period, but at the latest after the end of a semester with the AFEPA coordination office at UBonn.

8. The student is obligated to read and understand the exam regulations at his or her AFEPA partner universities. The respective exam regulations are contained in the welcome package at the first-year university. If doubts remain, the student is asked to discuss the unclear elements with the local AFEPA representative at the beginning of the academic year.

9. The student is strongly advised to stay at his or her respective two programme universities for the entire duration of the academic school years. Short absences such as trips for a weekend or during university vacation periods do not need to be justified. However, longer absences do require the approval by the local AFEPA representatives and have to be justified. This also includes the fourth semester of the programme when the student may not have to take courses anymore but is writing the Master's thesis. Any short study or research period at a third university must be endorsed by both participating universities and the third university and specified in a learning agreement.

10. Any alteration to the present agreement must be communicated in writing. All alterations to the initial situation must be immediately communicated by the student to the coordinating institution and the host universities. Upon mutual agreement of contractual modifications, the coordinating institution issues an addendum to the present agreement.

11. Any deliberate failure on the part of the student to fulfil the conditions expected in terms of attendance at the AFEPA Master's Programme, in particular non-fulfilment of the conditions stipulated in the present agreement, constitutes sufficient reason for action to be taken towards resolving the issue and could lead to the exclusion of the student from the AFEPA Master's Programme.

12. Upon exclusion or withdrawal, the student shall in due time and before his/her departure pay for all his/her financial obligations, in particular:

- the rent of his/her accommodation,
- the bank fees corresponding to his/her accommodation insurance,
- the bank charges to pay for any of his/her bank accounts and credit cards.

13. Without prejudice to the general consequences laid down in national law applicable in the present agreement, the coordinating institution reserves the right to cease the effects of the present agreement, without recourse to any juridical procedure apart from adequate communication to the student. Failing agreement by both parts, the German courts are designated as the only competent authorities to resolve any legal dispute between the coordinating institution and the student emerging from the present agreement. The present agreement is governed by German Law.

14. The coordinating institution and the participating universities are exonerated from any responsibility for accidents, illnesses, injuries, losses or damages to persons or goods resulting from or in any way related to the activities that are the object of the present agreement. The student is obliged to accept the necessary insurance related to the activities for the full duration of the study period, including any study or research stay at a third university.

The signatories declare that they have read and accepted the conditions laid down in the present agreement.
